STRESS RISK ASSESSMENT

What are the hazards?	Who might be harmed and how?	What are you doing to minimize the risk?
Demands	Staff <ul style="list-style-type: none"> - Deadlines dictated by legislation - End of year requirements - Workloads from meetings - Limited contracted hours - Dealing with challenging members of the public 	<ul style="list-style-type: none"> - Understanding what work-related stress is and what can cause it - Responding to a pattern of increased absence due to work related stress - Checking fit notes, and talking to employees - Looking for signs of stress in employees - Talking to employees - Meeting with staff and clients to agree timings etc for projects

		<ul style="list-style-type: none"> - Monitoring workloads - Planning work to minimise excessive demands - Taking on extra resource to support end of year work - Talking to employees regularly to gather information, directly or via line managers - Employees being encouraged to talk to line managers about upcoming leave etc and potential difficulties with workload - People may not identify time off sick as stress so thinking about whether: <ul style="list-style-type: none"> -there is an area/job that has high amounts of absence - employees complain about working in a particular area or doing a particular job
Control	Staff, in economic downturns <ul style="list-style-type: none"> - Junior grades, who have less control 	<ul style="list-style-type: none"> - Talking to staff about how they feel about their work - Giving staff own areas of responsibility
Support	Staff	<ul style="list-style-type: none"> - Training managers in spotting early signs of stress - Providing details of counselling services for staff - Staff can talk to supervisors or managers if they are feeling stressed at work - Staff are supported on return to work after a period off with work-related stress
Relationships	Staff	<ul style="list-style-type: none"> - Training managers in promoting a positive working culture - Introducing a zero tolerance approach to bullying - Sometimes line managers may be part of the problem so having a range of routes for feedback can be really helpful
Role	Staff	<ul style="list-style-type: none"> - Defining all team roles - Staff understanding what their duties and responsibilities are - Thinking about whether any staff are particularly vulnerable, eg those working alone, young workers - Investigating whether there are roles where it is difficult to recruit or retain staff
Change	Staff but junior grades are more likely to be affected by management decisions Additional pressures can arise through adapting to changes in staffing etc.	<ul style="list-style-type: none"> - Making sure changes are communicated openly so everyone understands the effects they will have - Monitoring effects of changes on stress levels so staff have the chance to provide feedback - Meeting clients to explain changes and manage expectations

		<ul style="list-style-type: none">- Acting on staff feedback so any new pressures linked to changes are discussed
